16th Section development is area park

Some 12.5 acres of 16th Section land apparently under cultivation at the intersection of Hwy. 603 and 53 in Hancock County are actually being prepared as a county park, Bay Three Supervisor Oscar Peterson reports.

Peterson said several of his constituents, under the impression the land is being farmed by him for personal profit, have questioned him about the matter.

"Actually, that land is under a renewable 25-year lease to the county, and we're developing a community

Investigators silent on jury-fix probe

By RICH ADAMS
State and local law enforcement officials have refused to confirm reports that a 12-member jury which found Charles Edward (Chuck) Depreo guilty of murder Jan. 27 was "tampered with" during the six-day trial.

However, Depreo's attorney, James Atchison of Mobile, said Thursday the court had received reports of alleged jury tampering the morning of Saturday, Jan. 27, prior to the jury's decision.

"This fact was brought to our attention in the judge's chambers in discussion with the court and District Attorney Albert Necaise," Atchison said.

"We were told that Saturday morning that State Investigators were advised a call had been made to the Federal Bureau of Investigation concerning this," he continued.

"I don't know the details and I cannot comment further. I have every confidence that State Troopers will investigate the matter thoroughly," the defense attorney added.

Moments after court reconvened on Jan. 27, both attorneys and Circuit Court Judge Leslie B. Grant, accompanied by State Investigators T. P. Naylor, Joe Price and P.M. (Mickey) Ladner, Hancock County Sheriff Sylvan J. Ladner Jr. and his Chief Deputy Ronnie Peterson retired to the judge's chambers for some 30 minutes of private discussion.

The jury delivered a guilty verdict Saturday at 5:37 p.m., following some two hours of deliberation in Hancock County Circuit Court last week.

Depreo was subsequently sentenced to life imprisonment by Judge Grant for the April 8, 1978 murder of Janice Ladner.

The trial was the second for Depreo, the first ending in a mistrial in October when another jury could not reach a decision.

Sheriff Ladner declined to comment on the reported incident involving the second jury. An investigator for the Mississippi State Highway Patrol also declined comment on the matter.

The two officials did not deny that an investigation is currently being conducted into the possibility of jury tampering during the trial.

Necaise could not confirm the reports, adding his office would not be involved in an investigation.

Judge Grant said Thursday he has heard "rumors" that an investigation into possible jury tampering is underway, but could not confirm the report.

Reports allege some jurors were seen during the week the trial was underway in cars with non-jury members outside the Waveland Resort Inn where the jury was sequestered each night following court proceedings.

Also, some jurors are alleged to have watched television and reportedly had access to news reports on the trial.

Reports also indicated that members of the jury were freely making and receiving telephone calls while sequestered.

County board president supports school unification

By LESLIE WILLIAMS
Hancock County School Board President Woodrow Ladner, at a board meeting Saturday morning, suggested abolishing the county's two school systems and creating an entirely new system in which board members and superintendent would be elected county-wide.

After a lengthy discussion of school system unification and creation of a new school system, board members agreed to send the Bay St. Louis Municipal Separate School District a letter asking that district's board and administration convey their feelings on such a move.

Hancock County School Superintendent Terrell Randolph said, "I would be in favor of a consolidation plan whereby the public had a voice in electing both school board members and a school superintendent county-wide."

Board Member Louie Ladner said he is not in favor of consolidation, but if consolidation is the only answer he would also support creation of a new school system in which all officials would be elected throughout the county.

Louie Ladner added, "I would rather have the bond issue passed though."

Board members Monvel Cuevas and Oris Ladner said they would not consider consolidating until they had fully studied the impact and ramifications of such a plan.

Board Member Johnny Banks said he is not in favor of consolidation, adding, "I don't see how consolidation is going to solve the problems of overcrowding in our school system."

Louie Ladner said he would like to publicly answer a letter by Wayne Peterson published in the Echo which stated, in effect, the Hancock County School Board is not in favor of consolidation because Board members would lose their jobs if consolidation occurred.

"If someone can handle the job better," emphasized Louie Ladner, "I'll give it to them today. Besides, if an injustice occurs in school government the injustice is the people's fault." Randolph interjected saying,

"Wayne Peterson has never attended a school board meeting."

Early choice likely to fill board slot

By EDGAR PEREZ

Bay St. Louis Mayor Larry Bennett said Friday he is seeking an opinion from the city attorney on the possibility of a new school board member must be appointed by the Council at its next meeting Tuesday.

Bennett said some 14 names have been submitted for consideration for the post on the Bay St. Louis Municipal Separate School District currently filled by banker Robert Hamilton.

The mayor and council had earlier announced plans to name Hamilton's successor at a Feb. 20 meeting.

Hamilton, a 20-year school board veteran and former board president whose fifth term expires this month, has asked he not be reappointed. By late last week, Bennett said state law on such appointments possibly requires they be made at the council's first meeting in February.

The new board member will assume his or her duties at the board's monthly meeting March 12.

City Attorney Joseph Gex was out of town Friday.

Among those persons recommended by groups or school patrons to be considered for the position are:

—Bill Breeland, official of Merchants Bank and Trust Company in Waveland and a former school board member.

—Anita Lamb, vice president of Gulf

Parents object to school use in church-related activities

By RICH ADAMS

A number of irate parents of both public and parochial school students voiced outrage when auditions for an Our Lady of the Gulf Carnival Association fund-raising talent show were held Wednesday at North Bay Elementary School during school hours.

Parents claimed the auditions were unconstitutional and against school board policy.

North Bay Principal Billy Sills said Friday the auditions were conducted with five minutes remaining in classes prior to a scheduled recess period.

Bay School Superintendent J. D. McCullough and Carnival Association officials said Thursday they were unaware the auditions had been scheduled at the public elementary school.

The talent show was to be sponsored by the Billy Sills-Madeline Prendergast OLG Carnival Association team, and was originally slated to take place Friday, Feb. 16 at North Bay.

Sills, principal of North Bay, said

Thursday the event has been cancelled altogether.

Bay St. Louis Mayor Larry Bennett, also Thursday, said he contacted McCullough and "put a stop" to interference in normal school schedules for private purposes.

"I told him (McCullough) I do not approve of the matter and will not stand for it," the mayor said.

"I will not put up with this...the Carnival Association is a worthwhile cause, but there is a time and place for everything," Bennett added.

Parents complaining about the auditions, which reportedly interrupted classes Wednesday at 1:30 p.m., said the try-outs violated "separation of church and state."

Unsigned notes were reportedly sent

Longo approves House action on sewerage

By LESLIE WILLIAMS
Waveland Mayor John Longo Jr. describes as "satisfactory" the House Committee-approved plan for a three-county commission to design and plan a coast-wide sewerage treatment system.

Until now, the Waveland mayor has been outspoken in his opposition to area-wide sewerage plans presented thus far which have severely limited local controls.

The 12-member commission which will design a new Gulf coast sewerage treatment system was reported favorably this week by the Mississippi House of Representatives Conservation and Water Resources Committee.

The commission will represent Hancock, Harrison and Jackson

Counties and their five municipalities. The treatment system, if accepted, would be 75 percent financed through U.S. Environmental Protection Agency grants.

The bill now faces action in the House.

The interim commission will have no powers other than planning and design of a tri-county treatment plan.

The Waveland mayor says that is just the way he likes it—"with no power other than designing and planning."

"I don't believe any commission which will have the power of local government is satisfactory as long as we have a state with it," he said.

"I don't believe any commission which will have the power of local government is satisfactory as long as we have a state with it," he said.

One alternative Coast-wide plan calls for construction of five treatment plants and disposal of effluent at three upland sites within the three counties.

Under the Coast-wide plan, a wastewater commission would purchase existing treatment plants within

Under Carmichael plan

Scientific efforts centered in Hancock

By LESLIE WILLIAMS

Gubernatorial candidate Gil Carmichael Thursday told the Hancock County Republican Women's Club he has a 4-year plan for Mississippi which includes developing Hancock County into a scientific center.

The potential state governor candidate, who said he will officially announce his candidacy for the office in the next few weeks, was warmly greeted by a dining room filled with club members at the Wheel Inn on US-90.

He described Governor Cliff Finch's administration as "lacking a plan or direction for Mississippi."

"When Finch got in office the Legislature asked him what do you want to do and Finch said I'll do what ever you want," elaborated Carmichael.

"As a governor you've got to know where you want to take Mississippi," Carmichael emphasized, "I have a direction for Mississippi."

"I want to develop Mississippi (which he described as a beautiful piece of real estate) into a dynamic community with my 4-year plan."

In a later interview, Carmichael said his four-year plan emphasizes scientific development in Hancock County, financial development in Harrison County and industrial development in Pascagoula.

All of these counties, said Carmichael, would be used as tourist attractions also.

"A businessman can do that," interviewed Carmichael. "I think now Mississippi is ready to develop its resources and attract a businessman governor," continued Carmichael.

His four year plan also includes developing Mississippi's economic resources, upgrading all road systems in the state, and strengthening neighborhoods within the state.

"Hancock County should be the egg," Carmichael said.

home with children at North Bay last week, announcing the auditions and the talent show with no mention of what the proceeds of the event were intended for or what time auditions or the talent show were to take place.

"The proceeds are not helping education at North Bay," one parent said, noting the public school was being used for a parochial school fund-raising project.

"This is an exploitation of public schools," another parent complained. "I feel our children are getting little enough education at North Bay as it is now," the parent added.

Another angry parent called the auditions "an unwarranted invasion of our children's right to education."

A father of children who attended a parochial school complained about the Wednesday incident, adding "there has been enough of this at North Bay...I think we should bring this type of thing to an end and do what is right."

Almost all of the agitated parents called the action unconstitutional, adding their children cannot recite the pledge of allegiance in school "because the word God is mentioned."

The complaining parents feel a church's fund-raising event at a public school is not in accordance with Supreme Court rulings on separation of church and state.

McCallouch said Thursday he had received many calls relative to the incident, adding, "The matter is taken care of."

"I called all parties involved, and the situation is taken care of in accordance with school policy," the superintendent said Thursday.

"The talent show will not take place at North Bay," he added.

David Treutel, president of the OLG Parish Council, said he was unaware of the talent contest and auditions.

"We have no control over the (Carnival) teams," he said. "We don't encourage them to break the law."

Chairman of the Carnival Association, Victor Frankiewicz, said he was not aware of the incident until Thursday morning, when his school-age son mentioned it to him.

"We had the approval of the Our Lady of the Gulf administration to conduct events at Bay Catholic Elementary School during lunch hours and after school, but we were not aware of anything at North Bay," Frankiewicz said.

"Nobody had the association's consent to use North Bay Elementary...we would not have condoned it," he added.

Sills said the auditions were on a "voluntary basis," and said because of complaints received by the Bay St. Louis School administration, the event has been cancelled.

"I have not received but one telephone call," Sills said Thursday.

"But we are not going to have the event because of these questions," he added.

"The auditions were held five minutes prior to a recess," Sills continued.

"Students are usually preparing to move to other classrooms or go to recess in that time period. None of the students were left unattended at any time," he added.

"The auditions were in no way meant to interfere with normal class procedures. No students were forced to try out...parental permission was obtained for those who did audition," Sills said.

head (he defines egg-head as one who engages in deep scientific thought) county in the state.

"The NSTL site of 180,000 acres should develop the whole new consciousness in this country," he stated. "Hancock County should be doing vast amounts of work in the area of research. Mississippi Universities should get involved deeply with research in the county," added the candidate.

Carmichael furthermore blamed liberal policies as causing the destruction of the family unit in America.

"Busing has served its purpose as far as human rights, but it is time to return the elementary schools to the neighborhoods, where mothers can see their children riding bicycles and watching them play," he proposed.

"Mississippi needs a restoration of neighborhoods, and as governor I will restore strength and vitality to the preservation of the family," the candidate exhorted.

Carmichael said he views Mississippi as a state of small communities and neighborhoods.

He announced he plans for Hancock to one day emulate Carmel, Calif., "a beautiful community."

The candidate warned Republican club members "the political machine doesn't want a Republican governor," adding he'll need the club's support.

He encouraged club members to seek offices and to have state wide ambitions. "You are philosophically motivated," said the Republican hopeful.

"Since Watergate, the re-birth of Republican power has begun," asserted Carmichael.

The Republican Party seeks reduction in the size of government, an increase in personal identity and a cutting of government waste, remarked Carmichael.

"The job now," proclaimed the gubernatorial hopeful, "is to generate Republican candidates. Hancock County and Mississippi should be looking for candidates for the next four years."

the counties and oversee a tri-county sewer treatment system with the responsibilities of sewer collection delegated to the local areas.

Mayor Longo says he is not in favor of a tri-county plan, but would like to see separate plans for the individual counties involved.

Representatives of the Mississippi Air and Water Pollution Control Commission, who have been studying solutions for eliminating the polluted waters off the coast, say the tri-county treatment plan is the most "economically feasible plan for the Gulf Coast."

Longo said he would like to see a separate wastewater treatment plan for each county, with a firm-headed EPA acting as advisor to all three of the counties to see that Mississippi Sound pollution problems are solved.

He added, "I think the three counties will accept the interim 12-member commission plan if it adopts separate county plans with stringent overseeing by the EPA."

The committee-approved proposal for an interim commission which has been approved by federal EPA officials in Atlanta, calls for each of the Coast's three county boards of supervisors to appoint one member, with the nine municipal governing boards selecting one apiece from their cities.

County appointees would be required to live in unincorporated areas.

Included in the park facilities will be senior citizens building, basketball courts, two baseball fields, tennis and volleyball courts, picnic tables, barbecue pits, water well and restrooms.

"I am personally doing all the electrical and plumbing work at no cost to the county," Peterson said.

Financing of the project is through a $20,000 Housing and Urban Development grant, the supervisor noted.

Peterson said an additional 40 acres of 16th Section land under lease to himself and members of his family are planted in timber.

"Three or four of those acres are held by the State Forest Service for a firetower," Peterson added.

In an advertisement appearing in the Feb. 1, 1979 edition of The Sea Coast Echo for The Country Store, now in the old location of the Sportsman's Paradise was inadvertently shown to be "Formerly Sportsman's Paradise." This advertisement was misleading as it inferred this was a successor business. said, "The public should understand consolidation will not come about readily—it will probably take a couple of years before it's accomplished."

"I disagree," interjected Randolph. "I think both school districts could be consolidated before September."

Hancock North Central Principal Thad Haskins said consolidation might create a junior high school and not a junior-senior high school south of I-10 in a future bond issue and everyone should be aware of this.

Board members said another alternative to solving the school systems' problems would be for Waveland to join the Hancock County School District.

But some Waveland officials have already expressed their disapproval of such a move.

MARKET TIMBER

You may get more money for your timber if you take the time and effort to market it properly. Marketing timber involves seeking bids rather than selling for the first offer. You should seek bids over at least a 75-mile radius. It is common for saw timber to be hauled at least 50 miles, and high quality timber may be hauled 100 miles or more. Seeking bids on timber is a good investment.

Pearlington was home of world's largest sawmill

By S. GRADY THIGPEN
Kimball Russ, native of Pearlington, was "loaded" in his old age with stories of the old days in Pearlington, Logtown, Gainesville and this general area.

The Russ family came to Pearlington from North Carolina about 175 years ago. The first Russ in the Pearlington area had a big family. Some of his offspring stayed on in the general area while others went west, one of them settling at Ruston, La. The grandfather of Kim Russ had a farm 3 to 4 miles east of Pearlington. Like all farms in those days, it was self-sustaining and self-supporting.

Just about everything they needed was produced on the farm. They grew all their own food, they made their own clothes, they were a real old time pioneer family.

Kim's father was Ernest Russ who was born and reared on the old original Russ homestead. Ernest Russ first owned a 160 acre farm joining his father's old home.

When the first big saw mill was built at Pearlington in 1880 Ernest Russ sold his farm and moved to Pearlington to work for the big new saw mill. He was the father of Kim Russ, Sam Russ and Denny Russ and of Mrs. Prentiss Byrd and Mrs. Joseph A. Johnson, all of Picaune.

The big saw mill at Pearlington was a success. It employed many people in the general area, at the mill itself and in the operations that brought the logs to the mill.

Ernest Russ' job was to procure logs for the saw mill. This work took him up Pearl River and its tributaries for many miles, on to Columbia and as far as Georgetown.

To give an idea of the big operation of this early industry in this area, many thousands of logs were floated into and down Pearl River regularly.

Kim Russ said, "I remember when I was a boy seeing the river full of logs for 4 to 5 miles upstream from the mill at Pearlington, even at times full of logs up to Logtown."

He explained that the river would run low in water during the dry season of the year, so enough logs would be accumulated when the water was high to run the mill through the times of low water.

In his work, Ernest Russ traveled up the river to contract for logs from loggers who lived along the river and the streams that ran into Pearl River. These loggers would cut logs and haul them to a suitable place where they would be placed in rafts to await the rising of the streams to float the logs.

Louis Piggott who came with his family to their new home four miles east of where Picaune now is in 1903 told me, "When we moved here shipping logs down the Hobolochitto to Pearlington was the main work of many people in this area."

He said, "I've seen the wood just east of Picaune busy with loggers hauling logs to the creek bank."

The Pearlington saw mill, built in 1880, burned in 1889. The owners of the mill immediately started building a big new mill at the old site in Pearlington, completing what was said to be the biggest saw mill in the world in 1890. In later years, when he was an old man, I knew Ernest Russ. He told me that he contracted for logs with loggers up Pearl River all the way to above Columbia in the 1890s to go to Pearlington.

He would ride a horse up the river road and search out logging men from which to buy logs for the big mill. My father-in-law, M. D. Tate, told me of shipping logs down the Hobolochitto in rafts to the big mill at Pearlington.

He would go on horseback to Pearlington to collect his pay for the logs he sold to the big mill there.

Sam Russ, now deceased, worked at the big mill at Pearlington when he was a young man. He told me that from their home near the mill, he could count 14 smokestacks along the river that made up the big saw mill operation.

The loggers would take their logs into rafts of five or six logs to the raft in a location where high water would float them into the stream. Many of these rafts would then be herded into a train of rafts for the long trip down the river.

One of the rafts of logs would be made into a headquarters for the down river trip. Sleeping and cooking on this raft would be provided.

On the train of rafts a man would be placed on the front of a pirogue. This man would guide the train of rafts down the river to avoid a collision of any kind, to keep the rafts from bulging into the river bank and keep it on course.

At night, the log train would be tied up to a tree on the river bank. The men who made up the crew would often sleep on the river bank. At day break the next day, the trip down the river would be resumed. For a number of years, the only bank in the Pearl River area was at Pearlington.

Back in the old days, there were no motor trucks or tractors. The main source of power was the old time dependable ox teams.

Some horse teams were used but the ox was more dependable and easier to take care of and to feed.

The ox teams could be turned loose part of the day and at night to feed on the grasses that grew everywhere; ox teams were thus less costly to use.

A well trained ox team was dependable and when once trained did excellent work. Kim Russ said, "oxen would soon learn to select the best way over bad places and they were easy to handle."

Harvey Burks once told me, "I've had old oxen working for me that had more sense than some men I've known."

Kim Russ echoed that same sentiment, saying, "our ox teams soon knew how to take advantages to make their work easier."

To prove how smart the old ox was, he would soon learn to hide himself when work time came so as to get out of work. The big mill in Pearlington, built to last 100 years, shut down in 1905. They had miscalculated on the availability of logs.

Hundreds of men were put out of work not only in Pearlington but also up and down the river. Soon, however, mills were built at Logtown that for a time used logs brought by water to the mill as late as the 1920s.

Since I've been in business here starting in 1919, I've sold supplies to men who were logging in the old way on Pearl River.

Natchez has been selected as location for another made-for-TV movie, Gerry Cagle, director of the Mississippi Film Commission, reports. Entitled, "Love's Savage Fury," the film is set during the Civil War. The plot concerns a Southern family and focuses on the daughter's efforts to save the Confederacy by delivering gold to be used for foreign mercenaries.

Actors for leading roles will be signed within the next few weeks, according to Mrs. Walterine Odom, film coordinator for the A&I Board Film Commission.

choose Natchez for TV movie

"No decision on how many local actors will be needed has been made," she said. The movie is a Douglas Cramer-A&I Spelling production and will be filmed in Natchez and Los Angeles. Filming in Mississippi is scheduled to begin in early April.

Editorial

Unification seems to be the only answer!

Hancock County is no different from any other county in the United States, in that most seem to have school problems.

We have talked to many individuals—some businessmen, others political office holders as well as the man on the street—about the school systems in Hancock County.

These discussions show conclusively: Hancock County School System residents do not want the Bay St. Louis School System problems, and the Bay residents don't want the County system problems.

We are fortunate enough to have four or five types of approved school systems to choose from in Mississippi and probably a type different from those we are now using would better serve our needs.

The first thing we would suggest would be the complete abandonment of the two present systems, allowing a fresh start from scratch with a unified system agreeable to residents of both Cities and the County.

In naming the system we would suggest that neither current name be used.

We are in the process of seeking information on the various school systems in the State and will present an outline of them in future editions.

For a unification to be successful, there must be complete agreement among the residents of the municipalities of Bay St. Louis and Waveland and those of Hancock County. The two present school boards, the board of supervisors, the mayors and councils, other elected officials, as well as parents must all be in agreement.

One must realize a very important fact—the development of a new school system can not be done over night. We are told acts of the Legislature must pass, etc. It will probably take four or five years if everyone were in agreement today on a unification system.

Meanwhile, our children will have to suffer until a unification system can be developed. There are several things we feel can be done which will help solve some of the problems on a stop-gap basis.

For many years, the high school students living in the Pearlinton, Lakeshore, Ansley and Clermont Harbor vicinities attended the Bay St. Louis school system.

We understand there are some 230 students from the above mentioned areas in the ninth through 12th grades at Hancock North-Central at present. Moving those students to the Bay system would cut the student load at HNC and relieve overcrowding there.

But the addition of these students to the Bay St. Louis Municipal Separate School system would create overcrowding in that system, meaning a need for more classrooms.

So problems will develop no matter in what direction one goes.

In earlier years when students from the County attended school in the Bay system, they paid a tuition supplied by the county.

If they would attend the Bay system again, and the system had to build new classrooms to house these extra students, more than just tuition would be needed.

No matter how the school problems are faced, more facilities must be constructed in Bay St. Louis or at North Central or some place in the county.

Monies must be spent and bond issues must be approved.

We have waited too long in Hancock County, we are falling behind the times in educational facilities for our children. The time is now for us to all get our heads together, to discuss stop-gap plans and talk about unification of all of the public schools in Hancock County.

There are those who say our school taxes are too high already. We can think of one way they might really be too high: What if Annunciation, St. Clare's, Our Lady's Academy, Bay Catholic, Christ Episcopal and St. Stanislaus all closed their doors at the end of this school year?

We are fortunate to have these very fine private schools in our county. They take a big tax burden off all of us.

We don't have to educate all of the children of the county, and yet we cannot seem to muster the facilities to educate only part of the student body in public schools.

Wake up, residents of Hancock County, we have been dragging our feet too long. Let us all get together for unification of our school systems, give our children a quality education second to none which they need and deserve.

We will have to dig into our pocket books, but if we had to educate all of our children we would probably have to dig all the way through them.

The time is now for us all to unite, work together for the future of our children and the future of Hancock County.

CRUMBLING JAIL—Hancock County Jailor J.W. Page, left, scoots out from under falling debris as Sheriff Sylvan Ladner pulls down loose sections of the County Jail wall after sections of the outside wall fell. The sheriff, who has been crusading for a new jailhouse, said, "I wish the (Hancock County) supervisors were standing under the wall when it fell." Ladner claims the jail is overcrowded and outdated, a claim substantiated when the January Grand Jury listed a new jail among top items in its report of needed improvements in the county. EPA ok's restricted use of Ferriamicide

The Environmental Protection Agency has released the pesticide Ferriamicide for use in Mississippi on areas of at least one acre infested with a minimum of 50 ant mounds.

Proponents of use of the controversial substance claim it is the last defense against the prolific fire ant which has invaded every corner of the state.

"The evidence compiled during an extensive public review of this issue shows that, with the safeguards we're insisting upon, the benefits of using Ferriamicide outweigh its potential risks," said EPA deputy administrator Barbara Blum in Washington.

However, EPA is still weighing a decision on whether to grant permission to use Ferriamicide to control fire ants in the states of Alabama, Arkansas, Florida, Georgia, Louisiana, North Carolina, South Carolina and Texas.

EPG gave Mississippi permission to use the pesticide last year, but this was temporarily blocked when a federal judge ruled EPA had to seek greater public comment.

The decision Thursday marked the end of the process, EPA said.

Ferriamicide was developed by the state of Mississippi after the federal government banned Mirex, another pesticide once used to control fire ants.

Critics assert Ferriamicide is just another form of Mirex. However, EPA said that Ferriamicide contains other chemicals that cause it to break down more rapidly into harmless components.

EPA said Mississippi could use the pesticide through June 30 of this year and could reapply for continued use after that time.

The agency also said it was imposing some restrictions on use of the pesticide, including:

—No more than 336,000 pounds of the pesticide bait (Ferriamicide plus corn pieces and soybean oil) may be applied between now and June 30.

—Women of childbearing age are forbidden to use the pesticide because it has been shown to cause birth defects in laboratory animals.

—The pesticide can only be applied on soils where at least one acre of ground is infested with a minimum of 50 ant mounds.

—EPA said Mississippi county agents would distribute the pesticide and monitor its use.

—Paul Vegas, project manager for Diamondhead Corporation.

Bennett said he has also been asked to urge Hamilton to reconsider this decision not to seek reappointment.

The mayor said he feels a suggestion Rev. Charles Clark of Assembly of God be considered for the slot is out of order since the clergyman is a Waveland resident.

Voters in Waveland and those areas of the school district outside the Bay St. Louis city limits will elect a representative to the school board March 3 to fill the one year remaining on the term of Ms. Jean Townsend who resigned last year when her family relocated to Washington State.

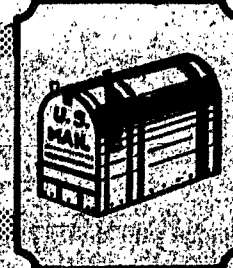

Qualified in the Waveland election are Betty Diboll, former teacher and college administrator, and Linda Penrose, legal secretary in the office of Lucien Gex.

Gex currently serves as attorney for the school board.

Mrs. Joseph (Virginia) Gex is president of the board.

Dear Mr. Loup:

I have received your very thoughtful letter commenting on my speech which recommended the repeal of the Social Security tax and replacing it with a value-added tax.

Your concerns as an active member of the American Association of Retired Persons are well taken. Undoubtedly, some of the problems and inequities which you refer to must be addressed in order to make any new system fair and workable.

I sincerely appreciated your comments on this important matter.

Doggone disgusted with loose dogs

February 1, 1979

Sea Coast Echo

Dear Editor:

What this country needs is a good Dog Catcher.

Our people are weary with walking watchfully and carrying a big stick, tired of beating barking dogs away from their bicycles; tired of cleaning up clutter caused by dogs during their daily garbage-inspection routine; tired of having accidents or near accidents caused by dogs demanding right of way in the streets.

Put me on that list of those who are "Doggone Disgusted With Dogs."

Editor:

THINK ABOUT IT....

Well, now that the election on the school bond issue is over (Round 2) and is history, let's reflect objectively on exactly what YOU have won. By NOT VOTING or voting NO on such an issue YOU have all but condemned the children of the southern half of the county. And to what?

The first choice open is the continuance of 70 and 80 mile per day trips for an education and the second choice is CONSOLIDATION.

Consolidation to what?

A school whose city system is essentially broke FINANCIALLY!!

But what the heck, SOUTHERN folks will carry the burden (WE ALWAYS HAVE) and I guess we really are as DUMB as THEY say our kids are as they attend high school.

Well let me tell you something partner, there are a hell of a lot of us who ARE NOT dumb and do have A CONSCIENCE!!

I'll bet if a few folks had asked a kid what they have to do to go to school. Ask them, they won't exaggerate. I'll bet the story would have been different then!

Yes, not that your "PRECIOUS MONEY" is safe, take a minute, lay your billfolds aside and listen to what your children have to go through to get an EDUCATION!!

Some kids have to meet buses at 6:00 a.m., change buses two or three times before getting to HNC.

When they get to school, many have ridden 40 or more miles BEFORE 8:00 a.m. It's a known fact how BUSY Hwy. 603 is (ESPECIALLY from US-90 to Cucca Junction).

It's also common knowledge that buses "loaded to the gills" with teenagers are subjected to this "DEATH TRAP" not once but twice daily! How long will YOU gamble with the lives of LOVED ones?

Is it going to take some awful ACCIDENT to wake YOU folks up? THE LAW OF AVERAGES is against OUR CHILDREN'S SURVIVAL!!

SURVIVAL? Are POLITICS and DOLLAR BILLS the only governing factors in what we say and do? Have we forgotten LOVE and COMMON SENSE?

It has been said that "the people have spoken." I say BULL!! Looking at the unofficial tally sheets published in this newspaper, I hear a different VOICE speaking.

Get a pencil and ADD (if it is possible) the votes of those areas whose children are BUSED.

Count the votes from: ANSLEY, PEARLINGTON 1 & 2, LAKESHORE 1 & 2, CLERMONT HARBOR, ARLINGTON, BAYOU PHILLIPS, W. SHORELINE-PARK and SOUTH BAY.

Now do you see a different voice? The vote total is 1199 to 127—that beats the HELL out of 60 percent doesn't it!!

I think I know what the kids from the South have to go through to get an EDUCATION, because I spent four years riding 70 and 80 miles a day and the situation was bad then, but it has worsened since I left in 1976.

I challenge you, to examine your CONSCIENCE (those of you who have one) and consider these children's lives.

Sincerely yours,
Bobby Shubert

Seeks to elect school officials

January 25, 1979

The Editor:

We are told that on March 3, 1979 there will be an election to fill the vacancy on the Bay-Waveland School Board representing Waveland and areas outside Bay St. Louis City limits.

Many of us were unable to understand why this election HAS to be held in the Senior High School inside the Bay City limits, but Superintendent McCullough has informed us that that is the law, and I have no knowledge of reason to say otherwise, but people I have spoken with all seem to feel that Waveland and the outside areas are not getting WHAT THEY ARE BUYING.

We are also going to have an appointment from one City Hall to represent a Bay inside slot.

It is also a fact that a lot of people also feel that we in Bay St. Louis are falling short of our rights to make our choice for something that so greatly affects our school children.

I don't feel that this appointment method is being continued through malice or politically privileged suppression.

I believe it was thought to be and probably was the best method when our school system first had to come up with some method years ago.

Many ways of life and laws have changed through the years. Even though we are faced with the fact that all these changes are LEGAL, it is easy to look around and see many new legal actions that are outrageously expensive, abusive to truth and honesty, but at this point I would like to suggest another change.

About three years ago we thought the time had come when we should have a new method of city government. We gathered information, we debated, we voted and agreed by majority to give our city hall to the people.

Now I am going to ask one city hall to give the school system to the people.

An apparent conflict of interest just several weeks ago gives us all the proof we need that city hall should be taken out of the school system and the school system should be taken out of city hall.

Incident leading to suppressions conflict.

For untold time McCullough has been asked to make our school business the peoples' business by publishing all financial transactions.

Although no one seems to have seen any of these statements, McCullough tells us that they have been made and pinned to the walls in the Courthouse and city hall only to be blown away by the wind.

Although both of these buildings are old, I would never have thought them to be so drafty.

Several weeks ago the controversy was solved but would you believe that City Councilman Seymour, who is also employed by the school system as Student Counselor and Councilman Wagner also employed by the school as architect agreed with McCullough in telling us that such an accounting was unethical.

Thanks to the good majority in city hall we ARE now getting some accounting.

In my opinion these three are not only short on good business principals, but Seymour and Wagner should immediately be removed from one of their positions.

Yes, City Hall, I am also asking that we be granted the privilege to vote for and elect our school trustees.

Yes, I feel sure that your intelligent guidance on this important city would always be welcomed.

MARDI GRAS 1979

JIM HENDERSON

Jim Henderson, sportscaster for WWL-TV in New Orleans, will lead Nereids' 13th annual parade as its grand marshal Sunday, Feb. 18.

A native of New York, Henderson holds a B.S. Degree in English and a Master's degree in radio and television.

After teaching high school for four years, he began his broadcasting career in production for educational television. His first sportscasting assignment was with WDTB-TV in Panama City, Fla.

From there he went to WSB-TV in Atlanta in the same capacity. In 1975 he was the recipient of the George Mortimer Award as an outstanding member of the media. In 1977 he was the recipient of an Associated Press award for best sportscasting among Georgia stations.

Henderson joined WWL-TV in New Orleans in May, 1978.

HANCOCK-VO-TECH STUDENTS took four of six awards in electrical and welding skills competition recently sponsored by Vocational Industrial Clubs of America (VICA) at Lamar Vo-Tech Center in Purvis. The six winners are, from left, Tim Hanson of Hancock Vo-Tech and Bay Senior High, third place welding; Tommy Anderson, Picaune Vo-Tech and Picaune

Memorial High, second place welding; Chris Hoda, Hancock Vo-Tech and HNC High, third place electricity; Kent Ladner, Hancock Vo-Tech and HNC High, first place electricity; Benny Dearman, Lamar County Vo-Tech and Lumberton High, first place welding; and Howard Cuevas, Hancock Vo-Tech and HNC High, second place electricity.

Hancock Vo-Tech students take awards

Pearl River Junior College's three secondary centers, Hancock County Vo-Tech, Lamar County Vo-Tech, Hattiesburg Vo-Tech, and Picaune High School Vo-Tech were recently involved in a series of Vocational Industrial Clubs of America (VICA) skills competitions. The Hancock County Vo-Tech Center at Settnis Field hosted the first day's competition January 23 with contests in welding and industrial electricity.

Lamar Vo-Tech, First place welding; Tommy Anderson, Picaune Vo-Tech, second place welding and Tim Hanson, Hancock Vo-Tech, Third place welding. A group of VICA members from the Hancock Center traveled to PRC's Lamar County Vo-Tech Campus at Purvis, January 24 to compete in auto mechanics and Carpentry contests. Henry Monti placed second in the carpentry and Byron Hoda placed third in the auto mechanics competitions.

The VICA Bricklaying contest was held January 25 at PRC's Hattiesburg Vo-Tech Center.

Scott Fayard from the Hancock Center brought home a third place medal in that field.

Dave Wittorf from the Hancock Center received second place medal in metal trades in competition at Picaune Vo-Tech Center.

On February 16, a group of nine students with James Torbit, Hancock VICA adviser, will travel to the Jackson County Junior College campus to compete in district VICA competition.

News Brief

UTILITY CREDIT

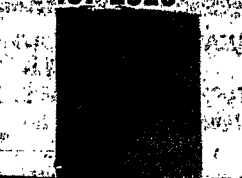

Mississippi Power Company President Victor J. Daniel Jr. reports February electric service bills will include a small credit due to changes in Federal income tax laws.

Although the total savings in 1979 is projected to amount to slightly more than $1 million, Daniel emphasized that most customers probably will not notice a change on their electric service bill.

"For February the credit will be .009 percent of the amount of the bill, or three cents for each $5," Daniel stated.

SSC, Bay High to compete in District VIII Tourney

BOYS BRACKET

GIRLS BRACKET

By RICH ADAMS
The St. Stanislaus Rocks and Bay High Tigers will be the only Hancock County teams competing in the District VIII Basketball tournament Monday at Harrison Central.

The tournament will close out the season for both squads, and the two teams are going against teams which they have not faced during regular season play.

The Rocks play George County Monday at 3 p.m., and Stanislaus roundballer head coach Bob Cucuaro anticipates many problems for his squad, with a 10-10 record in regular play.

"I've never seen George County Play," Coach Cucuaro said Friday.

"From what I understand they are a big team. It will be an effort just to get by them, but if we do we face second-seeded Pascagoula," he continued.

"We have a lot of problems...we're just too young a team this year, Cucuaro added.

Bay Tiger head coach Jerry Spell said he was going to scout the Biloxi squad Friday night.

His cagers, now 2-13 for the year, meet the Biloxi five Monday at 8 p.m.

"I hear they are a lot bigger than we are," Spell said Friday morning.

"They have good size and are in the same competitive category as Gulfport and Pascagoula. We will probably put up a zone defense against them," he added.

Spell said he is "optimistic" about the game, adding that Biloxi is "one of the top teams with an outside chance to win the tournament."

The Bay Tigerettes play the St. Martin Lady Yellow Jackets Tuesday night at 4:30 p.m. at Harrison Central.

In all, 12 girls' teams and 13 boys' teams will participate in the district event.

Semi final games will take place Friday night at Harrison Central, beginning with girls' squads at 4:30 p.m.

The girls' final will be at 7 p.m., followed by the final in boys' competition at 8:30 Saturday night.

SSC weightlifter sets AAU dead lift meet record in Pascagoula

A St. Stanislaus weightlifter set a new meet record with a 450 pound dead lift and three other SSC members placed recently in the Novice and Junior Power Meet Championships in Pascagoula.

Alvarez Hertzock, a member of the SSC weightlifting club, placed second in the 148 pound novice division with a total of 1,010 pounds as he squat-lifted 335 pounds, benched 225 pounds, and set the new meet record with a 450 pound dead lift.

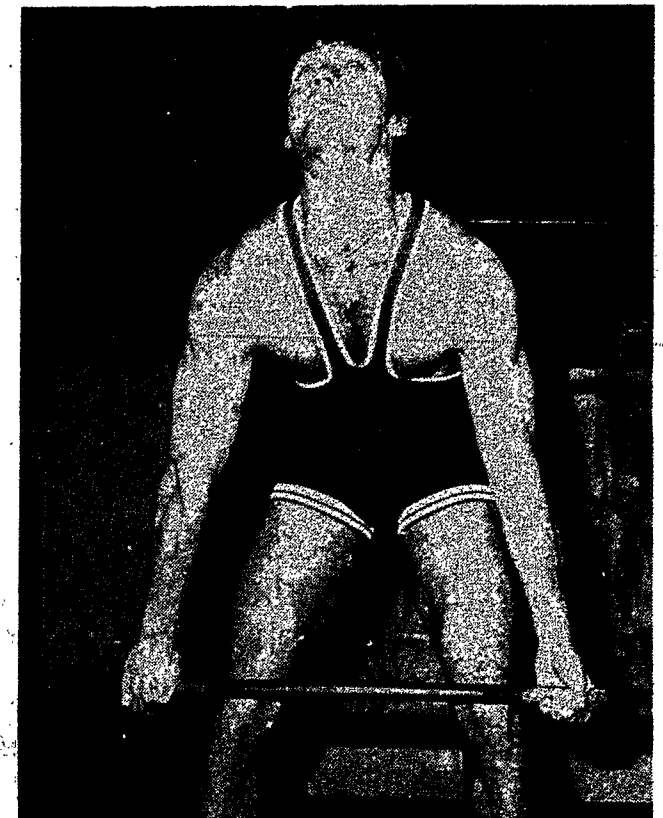

SSC strongman Doug Koch placed third in a field of nine in the 148 pound class with a 325 pound squat, a 240 pound bench lift, and a 410 pound dead lift for a total of 975 pounds.

Placing fourth in the 148 pound class was David Grapusa. Grapusa totalled 940 pounds with a 310 pound squat, a 220 pound bench lift, and a 410 dead lift.

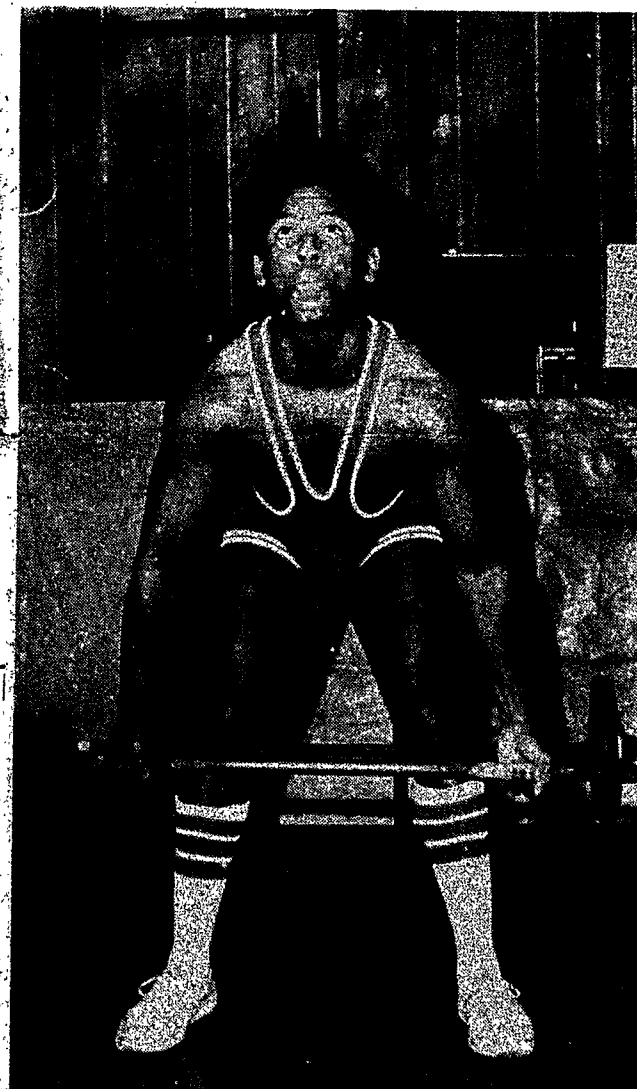

Paul Bertucci, lifting in the 220 pound class, totalled 1,185 pounds to take second place in that division with a 430 pound squat, a 285 pound bench, and a 430 pound dead lift.

Hertzog, Koch, and Grapusa were all lifting in the novice division.

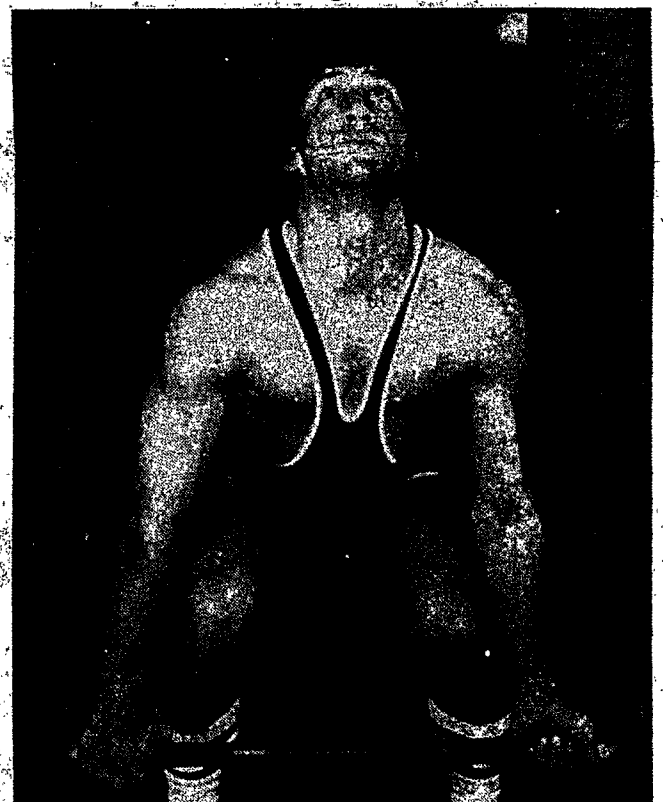

The SSC weightlifting club is coached and instructed by Brother Bennett.

PRC eyes busy spring sports slate

Pearl River Junior College will be competing in four intercollegiate spring sports. Schedules for golf, baseball, tennis and track have been released by J. C. Arban, PRC's athletic director.

Competition in all four areas begins in March.

The first golf match is planned for March 1 under the direction of Herbert Morris. The Wildcats will be facing seven matches during the spring.

Harvey Seligman, track coach, said his season begins against Gulf Coast March 22.

Tennis under Billy Holmes should be on the upswing this year. Holmes, former collegiate and semi-pro player, will head up the boys and girls teams.

Arban will coach the baseball team for the second straight year. Nine games are on tap beginning March 17 through April 21. The Wildcats have six starters returning and should be an improved club.

Pearl River's Spring sports schedule is as follows:

Carswell, Tartavouille wed in afternoon ceremonies

Miss Gloria Ann Carswell, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Howard Carswell of Waveland, and Dennis Joseph Tartavouille, son of Mrs. Herbert Tartavouille, Waveland, and the late Mr. Tartavouille, were married Saturday afternoon, January 6, in Our Lady of the Gulf Catholic Church.

Rev. Louis Lohan, associate pastor, performed the double ring ceremony before an altar decorated with arrangements of white gladioli, carnations, full mums and gypsophila. Mrs. Kathleen Asher, organist, presented a program of nuptial music.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a formal antebellum gown of sheer organza over bridal taffeta trimmed with ruffles of Chantilly lace. The bodice featured a high neckline and bishop sleeves, and the flowing skirt, with a flounce at the hemline, fell to a cathedral length train. Her long veil of illusion, trimmed with Chantilly lace, was held by a lace headpiece. She carried a cascade bouquet of red sweetheart roses, gypsophila and ivy. Diana Carswell of Lawton, Okla., sister-in-law of the bride, was matron of honor; and Donna Carswell, Waveland, attended her sister as maid of honor. Bridesmaids were Janelle Ladner, Waveland; Jill Tarzetti, New Orleans, cousin of the groom; Jada Woods, Waveland; Paulette Rutherford, Carol Ring, Bay St. Louis; Kathy Sims, Waveland, cousin of the groom; and Glenice Wilson, Bay St. Louis.

They wore formal crystal-pleated gowns of dacron organza in rainbow colors fashioned with a ruffle around the shoulders and a deep ruffle at the hemline. They carried bouquets of mixed pastel flowers and gypsophila.

Shantall Forrest, Marrero, La., who served as a junior bride, wore a dress and veil identical to the bride's and carried a basket of pastel flowers and gypsophila.

Dennis Keel, Pass Christian, served the groom as best man. Groomsmen were John Carswell, Jr., Lawton, Okla., brother of the bride; Al Signoril, Waveland, Arthur Miller, Jr. and Curtis Holman, Waveland, cousins of the groom; Peter C. Faucetta, Bay St. Louis, uncle of the groom; Merlin Necaise Jr., Waveland, cousin of the bride and groom; Donald Richard, Marrero, La.; and Patrick F. Cheney, Bay St. Louis, cousin of the bride.

Leroy Necaise and Patrick F. Cheney Sr., Bay St. Louis, uncles of the bride, were ushers, and Albert Bleht IV, Bay St. Louis, attended as junior groom.

The mother of the bride wore a peach silk princess style dress trimmed in lace with matching cape and accessories.

The mother of the groom chose a green crepe princess style dress with matching accessories. Both mothers wore carnation corsages.

A reception was held in the Main Street DAV Home, Bay St. Louis. Mrs. Camella Necaise, Bay St. Louis, kept the bride's register; and Mrs. Millie Richard, Marrero, La. and Mrs. Leroy Necaise, Bay St. Louis, presided at the cake tables.

MR. AND MRS. DENNIS J. TARTAVOUILLE

Others assisting at the reception were Miss Emma Kate Gaddy, Mrs. Beatrice Gaddy, Mrs. Elsie Wering, Mrs. Genevieve Cole, Rayford Shlyou, all of Bay St. Louis; and Delbert Seay, Pearlinton.

For her wedding trip to Biloxi the bride chose a silk floral print suit with beige accessories and a corsage of green and white carnations and baby's breath. The couple will reside in Waveland.

ATTEND LIBRARY EVENT—Nearly 500 librarians, library friends, supporters and legislators attended the National Library Week luncheon held recently in Jackson. Attending from Hancock County were, from left, J.P. Compretta, State Representative from Hancock Library; Fran Trombley, chairman, Hancock County Library Board of Trustees; Prima Wusnack, Hancock County Library System director; and Judy McCormick, Hancock County Library System trustee.

Mrs. Alicia Caddell and her son William Jr. attended a surprise naturalization reception given in her honor by Mrs. Wm. H. Bradford and her daughter, Mrs. Margo Frommeyer, assisted by members of the Waveland Baptist Church.

Cake, flowers and table decorations carried out the theme of "Red, White, and Blue," at the church meeting room.

Guests present offering their congratulations were Mr. and Mrs. Edsel Gibbons, Mrs. Martha Fairchild, W. E. Warren, Mrs. Neva Vestal; Sharon, Gerard and Jan Frommeyer, Mrs. June Thomas-Hall, Mr. and Mrs. Melvin Stoltz, Mr. and Mrs. Peter Saba, Bob Hubbard, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Costella, Mr. and Mrs. Lee Ashman, Mrs. Mildred Mean, Joe Davis and Mrs. Barbara Goetz.

FOURTH BIRTHDAY—Derek Collier, son of Mr. and Mrs. T. J. Collier of Bay St. Louis, celebrated his fourth birthday with a party Sunday, January 28, at a local restaurant. A red and orange color scheme was used in the decorations. Joining in the celebration were Chip Babin, Harry-Bourgeois, Laurie Fayard, Tracy Gigenhimer, Jay Jay Peterson, Shane Moore, Mall Strom, Beau Schindler and Billy Ramagoc.

Bartram Trail discussed at Diamondhead

The Diamondhead Garden Club heard a representative of the eight-state Bartram Trail Conference, Mrs. Abe Rotwein, at its Jan. 17 meeting at the Sales Lodge at Diamondhead.

Mrs. Rotwein, wife of a Jackson attorney, lives in both Jackson and Diamondhead. She gave a report on the State of Mississippi November Biennial Meeting of the Bartram Trail Conference.

Mrs. Joseph E. Viguerie Jr., the last living descendant of William Bartram, added a bit of spice to the program by giving a few intimate details about her illustrious relative.

Mrs. John Brooks, district director, will be in charge of the Trail Task Force of the Spanish Trail District Garden Club of Mississippi.

Mrs. Joseph J. Finley, president, announced the next Diamondhead Garden Club meeting will be Feb. 21 in the Sales Lodge.

The program will be on dried flowers. Mrs. Finley will demonstrate how to make dried flower stationery.

Tartavouilles feted at Bay Legion Home

Miss Gloria Carswell and Dennis Tartavouille were honored with an after rehearsal dinner hosted by his mother, Mrs. Herbert Tartavouille, at the American Legion Home, Bay St. Louis, prior to their wedding January 6.

A yellow and white color scheme was used for the occasion. Assisting Mrs. Tartavouille were Peter C. Faucetta, Miss Amelia Bourgeois, Mrs. Hazel Miller and Miss Jill Tarzetti.

Valentine's Day Silver Tea set in Pass' Frith Mansion

Mrs. Stanford Morse, coordinator for the traditional St. Valentine's Day Silver Tea, sponsored annually by women of the St. Monica Guild of Trinity Church, Pass Christian, has released names of those who will assist during the event.

The Tea will be held in the home of Mrs. John Frith, 961 East Scenic Drive, Pass Christian, between 3 and 5 p.m. Wednesday, Feb. 14.

The lovely old Victorian home, known as "The Mystery House" or "Villa Karma" is easily recognized by its high wrought iron fence, triple dormer windows on the second floor and wide sheltered veranda extending across the front.

White Italian marble steps lead to the entrance. The Valentine Silver Tea was established many years ago when Mrs. R.H. Kilpatrick opened the Pink Cottage to ladies of the Gulf Coast and their guests in memory of her mother, Mrs. Abby French of Natchez and Pass Christian.

The Tea, an immediate social success, grew in popularity each year and has been celebrated in many beautiful Southern mansions as well as the Episcopal rectory prior to its destruction during Hurricane Camille.

"The Frith home is of exceptional interest and this is the first time that ladies of the Gulf Coast will appreciate an opportunity to walk through the numerous rooms which are so tastefully appointed and enjoy the craftsmanship that went into the structure," she continued.

"The paneled dining room with open cypress beams is incomparable and the numerous spacious rooms lend themselves admirably to a tea service," Mrs. Morse explained.

Guests will be greeted at the door by Miss Jane Northrop and Mrs. C.E. Rick.

At the Guest registers will be Mmes. Leslie Beard, Herman DeVries, Sydney Dudley and W.D. Kellogg. In addition to the hostess, Mrs. Frith, the receiving line will include Mmes. H.M. Morse, Jr., wife of Trinity's rector; Mrs. Theo T. Moore, president of the Guild; and Mrs. Richard Stewart, secretary of the group.

Alternating at the tea and coffee service will be Mmes. Walter Carter, Lloyd B. Griffith, Nunez C. Pilet, Huron Viridin, B. J. de Laureal and Rosemond Wallace.

Included among those serving delicate tea sandwiches and confections will be Mmes. Ducrease Stouss, John McCloskey, George Arceaux and Fred Kohl.

Others assisting in the dining room will be Mmes. Olin Clark, A.M. Dantzer, John E. Murphy and Philip S. Fugh. Hostesses in the living and reception rooms will include Mmes. Frank Anderson, J.P. Mulaby, Randolph Buck, Marvin Mingledorff, Harrington Hillzim, Clark Gallaher, Hollis Crosby and Houston Minnece.

"Donations should be placed in the large silver wine cooler," Mrs. Morse explained, adding "These funds, of course, go toward church and charity related projects."

SILVER TEA—Coordinator of the St. Monica's Guild's annual Silver Tea on St. Valentine's Day is Mrs. Stanford Morse, left, and hostess will be Mrs. John Frith whose home at 961 East Scenic Drive, Pass Christian, will be setting for the event from 2 to 5 p.m., Wednesday, Feb. 14. Proceeds from donations will benefit Guild-related charities and Trinity Episcopal Church in Pass Christian. The public is invited. (Staff photo - Leale Williams)

Echoes

Mr. and Mrs. Albert Bleht Jr. had as weekend guests their son Owen Gray and sons Mike and Matt, New Orleans; their sons-in-law and daughters Mr. and Mrs. Ron Uhler and children Stephanie and Ron of Slidell, La.; and Mr. and Mrs. Junior Lackey and children, Tanya, Chris and Daniel, Chalmette, La.; their son and daughter-in-law Mr. and Mrs. Albert Bleht III, their son Albert IV and daughter Ruth of Bay St. Louis.

Waveland man recovering from shotgun wounds

By RICH ADAMS
A Waveland man who apparently shot himself accidentally in the face with a shotgun was released from Gulfport Memorial Hospital last week and is recuperating at his home, a hospital spokesman said.
According to Waveland Police Investigator Robert Tartavouille, Francis Page, 27, Camille-Trailer Park on U.S. 90 in Waveland, suffered wounds to the left side of his face when a single-barrel shotgun he was handling went off accidentally.

Waveland Police and Mobile Medic responded to the emergency call at the trailer park at 5:45 Friday, Jan. 26.
Page was taken to Hancock General Hospital for initial treatment and transferred to Gulfport Memorial Hospital for surgery, police said.
A spokesman for the Gulfport hospital said Page was released following minor surgery last week.
Tartavouille said the shooting was classified as accidental, based on statements from two witnesses who saw the incident.

Agency asks metal kite prohibition

The U.S. Consumer Product Safety Commission (CPSC) will propose a ban on the manufacture, distribution and sale of aluminumized polyester film kites.

The Commission found these products present a substantial hazard. The ban would apply to any kite containing 10 inches or more of this type of metalized material, including dragon, box and fighter kites.

The kites are conductive of electricity and are susceptible to becoming entangled in electric power lines.

The Commission's action was prompted by reports, including two incidents occurring in San Francisco in 1975.

An aluminumized polyester film kite became entangled in a power line, causing two 12,000 volt conductors to break and fall on a car.

The live conductors burned a hole in the rear seat of the car and burn marks were found on the tires and wheels.

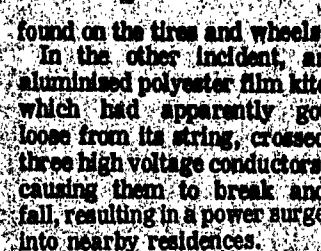

In the other incident, an aluminumized polyester film kite which had apparently got loose from its string, crossed three high voltage conductors causing them to break and fall, resulting in a power surge into nearby residences.

The surge blew a fuse box off the wall, exploded an electric meter and light fixture and burned out a refrigerator compressor.

No injuries or deaths related to the aluminumized polyester film kites were reported in these incidents nor have any been reported since then.

However, the Commission believes that the kites present a potential threat of serious injury or death.

The Commission does not believe that there are many affected kites presently on the market or in consumer's hands, but the action is intended to prevent such products from being marketed in the future.

Opera-South, METV to produce 'Legend'

The Mississippi Authority for Educational Television has received a $125,579 grant from the Corporation for Public Broadcasting (CPB) for the production of the opera "A Bayou Legend" by Opera-South, a Jackson-based major professional opera company.

The grant was announced by F. Lee Morris, executive director of Mississippi ETV, on Tuesday night during live statewide telecast, "ETC: An Ethnic Television View."

"A Bayou Legend," a three-act opera, is the tale of the supernatural based on an authentic folk legend of man in love with a spirit and love after death. The opera was composed by William Grant Still with libretto by his wife, Verna Arvey Still, and is set in the early 1800's in the bayous of coastal Mississippi, an area wealthy in folklore and legends.

"We were honored when Dr. and Mrs. William Grant Still gave Opera-South the rights to mount the world premiere of 'A Bayou Legend' in 1974," said Dr. Estus Smith, president of Opera-South, "and we are delighted to have the opportunity to share this opera with the country through Mississippi ETV and the Corporation for Public Broadcasting."

Dr. Smith is vice-president for academic affairs at Jackson State University.

The opera will be produced in October 1978, according to Ed Van Cleet, executive producer for Mississippi ETV. It will be restaged especially for television and videotaped on location.

Handling production for Opera-South are Donald Dorr, the artistic director, and Delores Ardoyne, the general manager.

Curtis W. Davis, former director of cultural affairs for National Educational Television, is the opera's television producer, and John Thompson of the Canadian Broadcasting Corporation is television director.

Still, originally from Woodville, MS, died on December 3, 1978. He held honors from seven leading universities, commissions from the League of Composers, Paul Whiteman, the Cleveland Orchestra, president of Opera-South, "and we are delighted to have this opportunity to share this opera with the country through Mississippi ETV and Columbia Broadcasting System (CBS) and the New York World's Fair (For its theme) and award compositions for the jubilee celebration of the Cincinnati Symphony, the National Federation of Music Clubs and the Aeolian Music Foundation prize for a tribute to the United Nations, 'The Peaceful Land'."

They were selected by the faculty. The criteria used for selection include:

1. The student must be a current member of her junior or senior class.
2. She must have demonstrated unusual leadership in academics, athletics, extra-curricular activities, or community service.
3. She must have maintained a grade point average of B or better and have ranked in the top 15 percent of her class.

Book Review By Hart Shorn
Bay St. Louis

By JOE PILET
You are going to thoroughly enjoy 'The Stories of John Cheever'.
It is easy to understand why the work was named best book of fiction of 1978 by Nat'l. Book Critics, and a Book-of-the-Month Club selection as well. Everything about this book is delightful and in excellent taste.
Printed on fine quality paper, the typeface is pleasing to the eye. From the front cover, which is a Chinese red, to the back, which carries a friendly and informal photograph of the author, it reflects the personality of a superb story teller.
Altogether there are 66 short stories in the volume, many re-prints from earlier and now mostly out-of-print books.
The stories are in chronological order and cover 30 years of writing.
Stories which first appeared in the New Yorker, Esquire, Saturday Evening Post and Playboy are included.
You'll find 'The Day the Pig Fell into the Well' highly entertaining and 'The Enormous Radio' is a "must."
Probably the collection of stories was intended to be read straight through in an orderly fashion. In that manner the reader would get an opportunity to review highlights of contemporary America with its miscellany of characters.
Then again, just browsing through the table of contents and picking out a title to match your mood of the moment could be satisfying.
Just to sample a few tempting titles there's 'The Sutton Place Story', 'The Season of Divorce', 'The Sorrows of Gin', 'The Worm in the Apple', 'The Geometry of Love', 'The Scarlet Moving Van', 'The Dutchess and The Music Teacher'.
Another thing—it is refreshing to read stories that actually entertain, rather than another dreary round of sex, lust, crime, drugs, and themes of that ilk.
As further proof of popularity, 29 copyrights (from 1947-1978) have been granted. Cheever and circulating library records show continuous check-outs of his works.
If 'The Stories of John Cheever' is out on loan when you go to the library, by all means put your name on the waiting list. It's worth waiting for!
